Park Description

Trallwyn Hall Holiday Park is a small site conveniently positioned at the gateway to the Llyn Peninsular, just west of the main Carnarvon to Pwllheli road. The park is accessed through landscaped parkland which forms part of the privately owned Trallwyn Estate - a home to a branch of the Williams-Ellis family of Portmeirion fame.

The site has sweeping views over rolling parkland down to the sea and Cardigan Bay. The private roads and tracks on the Estate offer ample opportunity to exercise well behaved dogs. Fishing can also be arranged on our river and small lake.

The holiday park is located close to the bustling coastal towns of Pwllheli Criccieth and Nevin. This area of North Wales is hugely popular for its stunning beaches and mountain. Activities available include walking, mountaineering, mountain biking, surfing, snorkelling, wakeboarding and jet skiing. Pwllheli also has a wide range of shops and eateries for you to visit during your stay, from little boutiques to restaurants serving fresh local produce.
